

Ambanibe Jerome Akeneck, Founder of the Association of Orphans and the Disabled, ASODI-Cameroon (<http://www.asodi.org>), a non-profit organization that has been serving over 5000 vulnerable people in Cameroon West Africa. He is a Cameroonian based in the United States with the passion to strengthen the porous health care delivery system in Cameroon. He strives to improve the well-being of the people of Cameroon by seeking solutions to the health and welfare needs of vulnerable people through sensitization, advocacy, the protection of their rights and improving the environment in which they live. He is also the co-investigator of Epilepsy and Cysticercosis in North West Cameroon, a serology study published in 2013 for the Seizure European Journal on Epilepsy.